Eggs – Day 2 & 3

The foundation stage children have been keeping a close eye on our eggs for the past two days, and word has spread around the school about our exciting arrival. We are making sure that we are following the rules to keep them safe and talked about the important job an incubator does to keep them warm.

We have noticed some cracks appear in our eggs and were expecting some to hatch on Thursday, but it seems that they are not ready yet and will be keeping us waiting!

If we listen closely, we can also hear chirping and some of the eggs have been rocking...

Hopefully tomorrow we will have some hatchlings.

Check back to find out!
