Eggs – Day 4

Overnight four of our eggs hatched!!

We are very pleased to find out that we have got some beautiful little chicks to look after.

Three of the hatchlings were dry enough to go into the cage and under the brooder to keep warm, however the other chick was newly hatched so it needed some more time in the incubator to recover and dry off. We are hoping that the sound of this chick chirping will encourage the others to hatch as well.

At lunch time we had another new arrival!

Can you spot anything different with this chick?

We were expecting to have eight black chicks, so this one was a surprise!

No more eggs hatched during school time, however when Miss Stannard took them home with her for the weekend, one more chick hatched that evening and one more made a start!
