

The Three Little Pigs

This week we have been reading the story of the Three Little Pigs – we have enjoyed changing our voices for the Pigs and the Big Bad Wolf!

Mummy Pig wrote us a letter asking for us to paint pictures of her pigs as she was lonely without them. Unfortunately we had run out of pink paint! We discovered that if you mix red and white paint then you can make pink paint – problem solved!

We conducted a huff and puff experiment to help the Wolf find out which materials he would be able to blow away and which he wouldn't be able to blow away.
